2015 SEASON PREVIEW

After finishing as Conference Runner Up in the Chicagoland Collegiate Athletic Conference (CCAC) and NAIA National Tournament participant, people knew the Tigers were back on the prowl. A great returning core along with six new freshmen and two junior college transfers are excited to make their own mark in the CCAC and the NAIA.

These strong returners had quality playing time last season against some of the best teams in the nation: senior Becky DeRuiter, MB, First-Team CCAC; senior Renee Enz, setter; senior Melissa Bartholomew, DS; junior Katie Tabisz, setter/hitter, Second-Team CCAC; sophomore Jeslyn Roat, OH hitter; and sophomore Kelsey Geiman, DS/libero.

A spring Division I tournament at the University of Chicago showcased some major improvements for sophomore Rachel Kirby, RS hitter; and sophomore Michaela Marino, DS.

Returning from injuries for the 2015 season are senior Melissa Bartholomew and sophomore Leah Lagestee.

Coach Williams knew she had to replace four quality seniors from last season who all started for the Tigers, so she hit the recruiting trail, 6-foot-2 freshman Brittany Neal, middle/OPP, from Arizona; 6-foot-1 freshman Lizzie Jackson, middle, from Indiana; 5-foot-9 junior Emma Ross, OH/DS, from Illinois Central College; 5-foot-8 junior Iliana Chakarova, OH/DS, from Bansko, Bulgaria, via Paris (Texas) Junior College; 5-foot-10 freshman Ellie Adamson, setter, from California; 5-foot-9 freshman Taylor Delbridge, OH, from Michigan. Coach Williams also snagged two Illini Elite players, 5-foot-9 Alex Ewalt, OH/DS, from Olympia High School in Danvers; and 5-foot-6 freshman Hannah Collins, libero, from Normal Community West High School. The Tigers have many new faces but will rely heavily on the experience of the returning players.

We look forward to having depth in every position and being able to create a very competitive culture to help prepare us for national and conference play.

Look for the CCAC to be very competitive next fall as we will again use our national level out of conference schedule to help us prepare for conference play. In May, we graduated four quality seniors, and one of our top assistant coaches — Luke Ward — left the program to take the women's volleyball head coaching job at Trinity International University. We were fortunate to add Jill Hird as assistant coach. Returning for a second year in their positions are graduate assistant coaches Rachelle Wiegand and Morgan Fox. We are excited to begin another chapter of ONU Volleyball history.

Don't let anyone look down on you because you are young, but set an example for the believers in speech, in conduct, in love, in faith and in purity. 1 Timothy 4:12

COACHING PHILOSOPHY

There are four principles that guide my coaching. The first is my relationship with God. I want my players to see the difference Christ made in my life and through this, learn to serve their teammates and others. Second, I see myself as an educator on the court. Each practice, I strive to teach them that through hard work, perseverance, sportsmanship and faith, they can be champions on the court and also in life. The third guiding principle is creating an atmosphere of competition. The only way to see where we stand and where we are going is to test ourselves against the top teams in the country and also in practice each day. And finally, I want each of my players to aim for academic excellence and become complete student-athletes.

A LOOK BACK AT 2014

The 2014 season was full of highs and lows, but the team made a statement when it counted. The season started with a trip to California to play against four top teams in the country. Players' eyes were opened to the level of competition that they wanted to get back to. While in California, the 16 Tiger team members bonded by playing together and spending time relaxing at Laguna and Huntington Beaches.

Things were tough for the Tigers at the beginning of the season, playing many nationally ranked opponents, but once conference play began the team picked up some much needed wins. The Tigers won nine out of their last 10 regular-season games and were prepared to make a strong conference tournament run.

Olivet went into the conference tournament with the six seed. The Tigers went on to beat third seeded the University of St. Francis in the quarterfinals, which set up the CCAC semifinal with arch rival Trinity Christian. The Tigers had not beaten the Trolls in three years, but the team peaked at the right time and beat TCC in four sets to move into the championship game. Olivet headed to north to Wisconsin to take on top seeded Wolves of Cardinal Stritch. Stritch came away with the conference championship, but Olivet earned the second conference automatic bid to return to the NAIA national tournament.

The opening round sent the Tigers Davenport University in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Players had a great experience and were thankful for the opportunity to get back to the national level. Although Davenport came away with the victory, the Tigers got a taste for what is to come. The Olivet Volleyball team is excited to return in 2015 with goals set high.

CHAMPIONS OF CHARACTER

AUTUMN'S ARMY

Every year, Olivet Volleyball has an awareness night at a home game. This year the team put on an event called "Autumn's Army." This night was to help out and support the Olneys, an Olivet family. Autumn Olney is a three-year-old with cystic fibrosis. The team sold T-shirts all around campus and made sure everyone knew to come to the game that night. Autumn attended the game and was announced with the players. While the game was going on, there was a live auction taking place. Different people and teams from Olivet and in the community donated items for the auction. The night was a success with the team raising money for cystic fibrosis research and showing support to the Olney family.

PEMBROKE MIDDLE SCHOOL

The team held a volleyball clinic at Olivet during the season, and the entire Pembroke Middle School team came. The Olivet team loved getting to know these young girls and teaching them the sport of volleyball. The Pembroke team surprised the Olivet players by coming to one of their games to support them. Of course the two teams had to get a picture together afterward!

READING AT BRADLEY EAST ELEMENTARY

Every spring semester, the volleyball team makes it a priority to visit a local school to read with the children. This spring, the team visited Bradley East Elementary School. Each player was paired with a pre-school student and read to that child for about a half hour. It was an awesome experience for the team to interact with the young students and teach them the value of reading.

ONU VOLLEYBALL CAMP

The ONU volleyball team does more than just teach young campers how to play the game of volleyball. Before some of the sessions, Coach Williams and the players teach the Champions of Character Core Values to the young girls. These Core Values include integrity, respect, responsibility, sportsmanship and servant leadership. Teaching these values to the campers helps instill the importance of character on and off the court. This is an amazing way to impact the campers on a deeper level than just volleyball skill training.

CHAMPIONS OF CHARACTER

JARABACOA, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

At the end of May, the team traveled to the Dominican Republic for a two-week mission trip. The team went through a Christian organization called Students International (SI). The SI base in the Dominican Republic is located in a town tucked away in the mountains called Jarabacoa. SI has many long term missionaries who run unique ministry sites throughout Jarabacoa such as: education, healthcare, physical therapy, sports and social work. The Olivet team members had the opportunity to serve alongside these missionaries at the ministry site of their choice.

Five of the Olivet girls chose to be at the women's sports site. It just so happens that the site is a volleyball ministry, so the players got to use their passion for the sport of volleyball to impact lives of volleyball players in the Dominican Republic. Olivet worked with peewee teams all the way up to a club varsity team. The site missionary allowed the team to run all of the practices so that she and her teams could learn new drills. Even though there was a language barrier at times, the girls were able to learn to communicate through the sport of volleyball. Another neat opportunity the girls at the sports site had was to share a devotional or testimony before each practice. Not only was the team able to help the Dominicans with their volleyball skills, but players were also able to pour into their lives spiritually. The team took an adventure to the river one day with the volleyball kids from a community called Corocito. The girls had a blast spending the day like a Dominican kid, jumping off rocks, getting dunked in the river, eating fruit off of the trees and riding bikes down hills and through the water. Because volleyball is such a big sport in the Dominican, the team got to play against five Dominican teams.

One night, SI had a community outreach in the community of Corocito. All 40 Americans that were at SI during the two weeks went up the mountain to Corocito to watch Olivet take on the boys in the community. Some of the Americans did a skit, and the gospel was presented. It was a special night for the team to be able to play volleyball together! Olivet volleyball players are thankful for the opportunity to travel together to another country. It was two weeks of growth, ministry and fun. Although the girls left part of their hearts in Jarabacoa, they are excited to use and share what they learned in the beautiful country of the Dominican Republic with people in the United States.

SERVING IN CHICAGO

The team took a trip to Uptown Chicago during preseason. Coaches and players spent the morning serving food in a homeless shelter and cleaning up a parking lot in the area. The team loved serving alongside each other and learning to bond through hard work.
